Background
WebGrants is an online grant application management system put in place to support the Cleveland CTSC. Its primary purpose is to take in grant applications, automatically route them to the appropriate resources and manage the entire grant application and review process in one convenient place. The web-based WebGrants system is designed to support the daily operations of the CTSC in such a way that maximizes operational efficiency through automatic routing of applications for reviewers, online forms for applicants rather than paper based forms, and electronic submission of applications and supporting documentation.
